SINCE 1981

Good morning!

Now that everything is quiet I'll add a few lines on paper to send along with our flyer. At 4 o'clock our peacock decided to do his morning calls right outside our bedroom window roosting on our swing set. Then since I was awake I remembered this letter...

Since LeAnna's wedding is now past my work schedule has really changed. Thanks for being patient with us in the last few months. Our aim is to try and get orders done on time etc. Wedding day started out with a thunder shower in the morning then it cleared off and we had a beautiful and pleasant day. 280 people ate dinner then approximately 180 stayed for supper. I will add a few recipes we used for the meal.

In the afternoon some of the youth were singing and others were playing volleyball. The next day LeAnna's four sisters and three sisters-in-law were all here helping clean up, helping pack the community trailer, cookers, kettles, pans, silverware, washed and dried all tea towels, coffee perks, water coolers and sure enough we found a spot for everything. Now the trailer is ready for the next event. The second trailer was filled with tables and chairs there we needed some men to help. The out of state daughters and family left for home late in the afternoon and yes with coolers of leftover food.

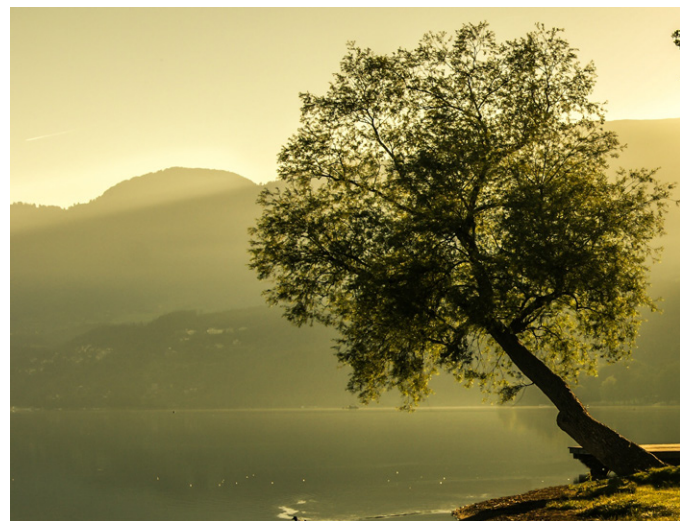

LeAnna moved approximately 10 miles from here and plans to be back in the store sometimes. Her husband, Gregory, is building his own repair shop for fixing tractors etc. which he had been doing a few years already in someone else's shop.

Garden is doing very well but is a challenge to get in between rain showers. Farmers are just now getting in fields and going long days, don't know if they can keep on, as we had another 3/10 rain last night. Once farming is done they want to build more fences around 100 acres. They decided to graze it instead of farming. It was seeded early this spring, grass is high and cattle waiting to be put out as soon as they have fences. With Harvey taking it easy at this time he depends on others to do the heavy lifting. He took a hard fall when stepping on a cement water spill away covered with moss, wanting to cross the creek. When falling, his elbow punched into his rib breaking or fracturing four ribs so he is moving a little slower for a few more weeks. But one thing I found out he could wash dishes.

My rooster now started crowing and its time to get started with morning duties, soon time for breakfast, sounds like the birds are waking up too.

Two artists were painting to illustrate the idea of peace. One painted the picture of a quiet lake way up on a mountain top. Not a breeze was stirring. Not a bird was flying. Not a ripple disturbed the quiet waters. All was perfect silence.

The other artist illustrated peace by painting a roaring water fall, with a mighty tree hanging over it. In the croak of a limb, bending over the turbulent waters and almost within reach of the rising spray, he painted a tiny sparrow sitting calmly and unperturbed upon her little nest. It was snug in the crook of a mighty oak, on a branch which the waters could not reach.

Balloon Exercise:

Our Happiness is with others - Author Unknown

Everyone wants to find happiness in life. No matter what our circumstances, and no matter what hand we are dealt, the search for true contentment is at the heart of everyone's goals.

The question, then, is how? How are we supposed to even begin looking for it? A group of people gathered in a room attending a seminar about life and happiness to learn to find happiness in their lives.

They were being taught various skills and lessons about life. Suddenly, the speaker stopped and started giving each person a balloon. He asked everyone to write one's name on it using a pen. All the balloons were then collected and taken to another room.

Now, these delegates were let in the room and asked to find the balloon which had their name written, within 5 minutes.

Everyone was frantically searching for their name, pushing, colliding with each other, and there was utter chaos.

No one could find their balloons within the given five minute time and they all had to return to the other room empty handed.

Then they were told to go to the other room and randomly collect a balloon and give it to the person whose name was written on it.

Within five minutes everyone was carrying the balloon with their name on it.

The speaker began: This is exactly happening in our lives. Everyone is frantically looking for happiness all around, not knowing where it is. Our happiness lies in the happiness of other people. Give them their happiness, you will get your own happiness.
