Good Morning Readers,

We are again at Daudy's, spent the night here and will stay for the day. This is early morning. Harvey went home to do chores and load a load of compost for one of his wholesale customers. He wanted to be loaded at 5:00am.

Sounds like it is windy outside. Some days it feels like Spring is close then other days we go for our warm clothes again. Lawns seem to be greening up some and bird feeder is not as active, they must be finding other nourishment.

Last week Harvey, I, Eric, Marnita and 3 children spent some time in Texas. We were gone ten days in all. Eric went for training on sewing machine repair. There were 12 others in his class from all over the U.S. including 3 from Canada. The oldest in class was an 84 year old lady out of Florida using a walker. She traveled all by herself and wants to start fixing sewing machines for other people. Training was hands on, all makes of sewing machines: big or small. He passed his test and is now certified, so yesterday he did his first machine, a serger. He has a few other machines waiting. Time will tell if he is going to enjoy it. He admitted training was five long, hard days.

We had rented a small house close to Temple. We took our own sewing machine along and lots of projects to do. Really we took more along than we had time for. We did not spend much time outside, we had mostly cloudy and drizzly days except for two days the sun was out with a cool wind. Another reason the children didn't go out was Jake, the big bull behind an old rickety fence with almost all the wooden posts rotted off and only a few steel stakes to hold the others with wires touching the ground. I am sure he could have stepped right over with no problem. Well, he made sure we knew who was the boss. Whenever he seen someone outside he would come right up the fence, belling and throwing dirt. That was enough to run the children right back into the house. And me. Harvey did go right close to the fence, so he bellered even louder. Really don't know what kept him from stepping over his fence. We all agreed we'd hate to meet him inside his territory. Can't help but wonder if old Jake is still behind his fence.

The first day we went to a fabric warehouse where all the Moda fabrics are sent out of. It was approximately a two hour drive from where we were. It was our first time and we figured this is our chance to tour the warehouse and meet the people. And of course with the specials they were running, we filled cartloads of fabric, so watch for our Moda special on your next trip.

The fourth day, while Eric was in training, we went for a tour out in the country. It was interesting to see the different ranches and sheep, goats, etc., grazing.

We came to this stop sign, a sign said "Town of Stampede." There were 3 houses left, couldn't really tell if they were occupied or not. Inside the fence was a pile of stones and a sign that read this was where the first church and school used to be to have education for the children and bring Christianity into the area, year 1891. We just made a big loop and back again to our sewing.

Back again, sounds like it is raining, also are calling for high winds today. I should trim grapes one of these days, guess I am waiting on just that perfect day when I can keep warm.

Daudy, Harvey's dad, is pretty much the same. Some days he can still color some and other days he sleeps a lot. But one thing, he eats well.

We are getting ready for our March Anniversary Sale, it's 42 years, where did the time go to? Some of you probably remember these years. I have learned a lot just listening to our customers. And I am still learning.

Baby news is Letty born on Christmas morning, December 25, to daughter LeAnna and Gregory Nolt. Letty has a head full of black hair. Two days later, December 27, Son Melvin and Wilma had a little girl, Sara. She was greeted by one brother and four sisters. We are blessed with 34 grandchildren and lots of "loud" memories are made when we are all together. ☺

He who sows courtesy reaps friends, he who plants kindness reaps love.

STRENGTH FROM SURRENDER

Most of us recognize The Serenity Prayer, but many of us don't know where it started. The prayer has become one of the most well-known prayers among both religious and non-religious people. The prayer goes as follows:

"God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change; courage to change the things I can and the wisdom to know the difference."

Less well known is the second part of the prayer:

"Living one day at a time; enjoying one moment at a time; accepting hardships as the pathway to peace; taking, as He did, this sinful world as it is, not as I would have it; trusting that He will make all things right if I surrender to His Will; that I may be reasonably happy in this life and supremely happy with Him forever in the next. Amen."

American theologian Reinhold Niebuhr (1892 - 1971) is attributed as the author of The Serenity Prayer and it was obtained from an excerpt of his diary by one of his students, Winnifred Crane Wygal, who posted it in newspaper articles in the 1930s. Wygal then placed it in a book of worship in 1940.

The original version that Niebuhr wrote went as follows:

"O God and Heavenly Father grant to us the serenity of mind to accept that which cannot be changed, courage to change that which can be changed, and wisdom to know the one from the other through Jesus Christ, our Lord, Amen."

The prayer became more widespread when an Alcoholics Anonymous member found it in a New York Herald Tribune obituary in 1941 and brought it to the group's attention. William Griffith Wilson, co-founder of Alcoholics Anonymous, and his staff like the prayer so much that they printed and distributed it to their members. It has been a part of AA recovery ever since.

It can be used in difficult situations when you need to call on God for serenity, acceptance, courage and wisdom.

Serenity

Serenity is the first virtue mentioned in The Serenity Prayer and is the exact opposite of anxiety. Acceptance is a key part of finding serenity. One general rule is you can control yourself, but you can not control others. Surrendering control can help keep you emotionally strong and at peace.

Courage

Courage, according to the second part of the prayer, is what we need to change the things we can. There is a big gulf between the things we can do and the things we must do. There is no shortage of the things that we can change, but we need to recognize our limitations. We can not do it all. Courage usually begins with changing ourselves.

Wisdom

Wisdom, which includes both truth and compassion, is needed to identify what can be changed from what can not. Anxiety can prevent you from recognizing the difference. A wise person tries to figure out what they can control and what they can not, which again helps prevent anxiety. By practicing wisdom, we will generally know when to accept our situations and when to be courageous.

The Serenity Prayer is a great way to calm yourself when you are feeling stressed, angry or triggered.

It's a great prayer to use for anyone who needs a transformative mindset. It's a prayer that calls on a higher power to help us with our emotional health in our own way.

Make-Ahead Breakfast Enchiladas

Ingredients

1 lb. bulk breakfast sausage
1 medium red pepper, chopped
1 small onion, chopped
2½ cups shredded cheese, divided
10 flour tortillas

TOPPING:

2 cups half-and-half
6 eggs
1 tbsp flour

Directions

Cook sausage, pepper & onion until done. Drain if necessary. Let cool slightly & stir in 2 cups cheese. Spoon 1/3 cup mixture into each tortilla. Roll up and place seam side down in 9" x 13" pan. Whisk together topping, pour over tortillas. Cover tightly & refrigerate overnight. In the morning, bake, covered, at 350° for 30-40 minutes or until eggs are set. Sprinkle with remaining ½ cup shredded cheese & bake uncovered for 10 more minutes. Serve with salsa & sour cream.

Schi

Ingredients

Mix of pork & beef on the bones with some fat	Bay leaf
Potatoes	Pepper
Diced onion	Fresh parsley
Shredded carrot	Fresh dill
A bit of tomato paste or fresh tomato	Bouillon, if needed
Shredded cabbage

Directions

Cook meat until tender. Remove meat from broth to cool & pick from the bones. Add potatoes to broth & begin cooking. Sauté onions & carrots in some oil in a skillet. Add them to cooked potatoes in the broth with the cabbage & shredded meat. Add rest of the seasonings. Bring to a boil until cabbage is tender & flavored through. Serve w/ sour cream or mayo. If you want to make borscht, sauté grated beets with the carrots & onions. This makes the soup pinker. This is the only difference between schi (cabbage soup) & borscht. Schi is also very tasty cooked with chicken.
